

Llamas and Alpacas

Want to learn more about alpacas? No prob-llama! Both llamas and alpacas are part of the camel family. For thousands of years, these remarkable mammals have helped people in many ways. Llamas are strong animals that carry heavy loads, while alpacas have soft fleece that's used for making clothes. These curious creatures and their fuzzy features bring glory to their Creator, Jesus Christ! Did you also know . . .

- ✓ Llamas and alpacas are originally from South America. God gave them the perfect features to navigate the mountains, such as two-toed, leathery feet.
- ✓ Alpacas have at least 16 official colors—including black, white, and gray, among others.
- ✓ Because llamas can be protective, some farmers use them to guard animals like sheep.

Your righteousness is like the great mountains; Your judgments are a great deep; O LORD, You preserve man and beast. (Psalm 36:6)

alpaca

llama

Llama Word Search

Y	H	A	Z	Q	A	K	A	R	L	W	C	I	M
V	Q	D	M	H	S	U	C	L	M	M	Q	M	D
R	L	Q	L	A	W	Q	I	I	H	E	J	Q	O
D	A	C	A	P	L	A	R	B	P	I	Y	L	G
H	K	Z	R	H	O	L	E	F	D	W	A	I	T
C	T	R	Y	U	M	Z	M	A	M	Y	K	T	E
C	A	M	E	L	I	S	A	R	F	W	L	Z	E
Y	G	Q	O	I	V	V	H	M	T	I	R	C	B
M	X	O	O	P	H	R	T	E	G	X	E	M	J
T	A	Y	N	T	C	J	U	R	J	E	Y	F	O
T	A	M	M	O	F	N	O	U	L	F	I	H	J
T	H	F	M	S	U	V	S	F	W	N	J	Z	H
J	G	W	B	A	E	E	M	J	S	K	K	F	I
G	Z	M	N	K	L	L	J	M	M	C	O	W	L

alpaca South America llama mammal fleece camel farmer

Match the picture to its shadow below.

Circle the five differences between the two pictures.

